NIH CEAL Community Engagement Alliance | WEAVE NM Wide Engagement for Assessing COVID-19 Vaccine Equity

FIRST NATIONS COMMUNITY HEALTHSOURCE

Heart Health and Nutrition for Life Study

RX PROGRAMS

POLICY

JUSTICE

ACCESS

EDUCATION

FOOD DISTRIBUTION

AGRICULTURE

PRODUCTION

The University of New Mexico Heart Health and Nutrition for Life study invites you to share your knowledge and experience and contribute to the development of policy recommendations that can result in chronic disease prevention and better health outcomes for New Mexicans.

The Heart Health and Nutrition for Life (HHNL) research study aims to compare the effectiveness of different approaches in managing hypertension and to explore how health education can improve heart health. Heart Health and Nutrition for Life is also interested in developing policy recommendations related to food and nutrition in New Mexico.

WHAT DO I NEED TO DO?
Participate in a one hour interview in the setting of your choice (online or in person).

WILL I BE COMPENSATED?
You will be offered a $100 merchandise card to compensate you for your time.

TO LEARN MORE:
Phone: 505.272.4100
Email: hsc-cnah@salud.unm.edu

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO

NIH CEAL Community Engagement Alliance | WEAVE NM Wide Engagement for Assessing COVID-19 Vaccine Equity

FIRST NATIONS COMMUNITY HEALTHSOURCE